

Barry
is there.

“Employers count on Quest Diagnostics to be at the forefront of drug testing research and technology.”

We are fortunate because we have been at the cutting edge of drug testing for more than 25 years. We have observed changes, analyzed data and responded to trends from millions of employer drug tests. We also get to share our knowledge to help employers and our industry promote safe, drug-free workplaces through accurate, error-free testing.

Today we are educating the next generation of thought leaders with our forensic toxicology doctoral program. We look for nothing short of unwavering dedication to excellence, because someday one of the members of this program may just change the future of the drug testing industry.

Dr. Barry Sample

Director, Science and Technology
Quest Diagnostics Employer Solutions