

Jeff
is there.

“Every day and with every interaction, we are customer focused.”

Read more stories at EmployerSolutions.com/WereThere

Being a relatively new member of the Quest Diagnostics family, I have a fresh perspective on the drug testing industry and the unique and dynamic culture that drives our company. After a year and a half with Quest, I can attest that our culture is grounded in professionalism, trustworthiness and customer service.

As an Account Manager, every client interaction provides an opportunity to personify these cultural values. We work hard to be prompt in our interactions, we do everything we can to follow through on our commitments, and we genuinely invest ourselves in the positive outcomes we help to deliver. Every day and with every interaction, our account management team is dedicated to helping customers achieve their goals, so that in turn they can continue to create safe, drug-free workplaces.

Jeff Hill

Senior Account Manager
Quest Diagnostics Employer Solutions