

Jewel
is there.

Momentum is powerful.
Positive momentum is unstoppable!”

I have discovered during my time with Quest Diagnostics that I am no longer an individual contributor. I am part of a team. It may seem simple, yet it has a significant impact on my actions and how we build our teams in the laboratory. We actively increase our positive momentum. It helps us perform better every day because we know our work is incredibly important.

We don't just process drug tests; we care for people. Each specimen represents a person whose life is on hold awaiting a result. In everything we do, we work to honor Quest's high standards of quality. We remain devoted to being there for each other and strengthening our connections so we can be there for every test that enters our lab.
