

Lawrence is there.

“Being the best starts with a great team.”

Being the best is what we strive for. As part of Employer Solutions, that phrase is our lifeblood – the fuel that powers our actions. Being the best in our industry can only be attained by having a healthy ecosystem comprised of collaborative, balanced teams that are adaptable when faced with challenges or during times of stress. Our success is not a product of a single person's efforts, but the result of an entire community mindfully contributing to the bigger picture.

Organizations talk about trickle-down culture. However, at Quest, I am the one inspired by my people to do better. I am inspired to work harder, take more ownership, and strive for the most efficient processes. Together, we spur each other on to continue to be the best.
